

New appointment at Whiteheads

Whiteheads Solicitors is delighted to announce that Lindsay Felstead has been appointed a Director of the firm.

Lindsay joined the firm in 2004 having been called to the bar in 2000. She then retrained as a Solicitor and was admitted in 2005.

Lindsay's experience as both a barrister and a solicitor bring significant benefits to each of our clients allowing the firm to conduct much of the necessary court advocacy in-house. In addition, she uses her expertise to mentor other members of the team to help them develop their own advocacy and case management skills.

As well as managing a caseload and working directly with clients, Lindsay will also be taking a leading role in the future direction of the firm as we develop new services and new ways of working with clients. She will specifically be responsible for managing the programme of free case surgeries and client relationship management.

Peter Whitehead, Managing Director said, "I am delighted that Lindsay has accepted the appointment as a Director of Whiteheads Solicitors Limited. Her appointment will significantly advantage the Company in relation to its management, future growth and ongoing reputation for legal excellence. All of us, clients and colleagues, will benefit from Lindsay's ability, energy and commitment."

Lindsay says of her appointment "It is an exciting time, not only for me but for the firm and I am greatly looking forward to playing a part in the future growth of Whiteheads'. Although my new role will mean that I have a larger remit in the management of the business, my focus will still be on delivering excellent service to all of our clients".
